

Wild Food Adventure

August 6–11, 2018

ITINERARY

DAY 1

Monday, August 6

Arrive at Santa Fe by 4:00 p.m. Meet the group for introductions, a program orientation, and dinner at one of the best fresh-food restaurants in downtown Santa Fe. Overnight, Pueblo Bonito Inn, Santa Fe. D

DAY 2

Tuesday, August 7

Our theme today is foraged and wild foods with contemporary cuisine. We enjoy a morning walking tour of herb gardens before heading to the mountains to identify foraged foods with our experts. Later we enjoy an interactive demonstration and four-course meal with Chef Karlos Baca (Diné/Tewa/Nuche) and Chef Colin Shane at Arroyo Vino Restaurant. Overnight, Santa Fe. B L D

DAY 3

Wednesday, August 8

Today's theme is Southwest multicultural foods and fine cuisine. We venture out for a mountain-foods walk in Santa Fe National Forest with Katrina Blair. Return to Santa Fe for lunch on own and free time, and then set out in the mid-afternoon for lectures, demonstrations, and hands-on preparation of a private three-course meal with Chef Lois Ellen Frank (Kiowa) and Chef Walter Whitewater (Diné) at Red Mesa Cuisine. Overnight, Santa Fe. B D

DAY 4

Thursday, August 9

The theme today is traditional indigenous cuisine. Prepare to spend all day in and around Ohkay Owingeh Pueblo to learn about native traditions and ritual practices, and to visit an ancestral Pueblo. Chefs Norma and Hutch Naranjo (Tewa) of

Norma Naranjo gives a hands-on cooking lesson

Discover the sacred properties of corn

Wild food platter at Arroyo Vino

The Feasting Place invite us to their private home for a hands-on learning experience in preparing traditional foods. Learn about the Pueblo Revolt, as tomorrow marks the celebrated anniversary of this historic event. Check in to our quiet and remote bed and breakfast, Casa Escondida. Overnight, Chimayo. B L D

DAY 5

Friday, August 10

Our theme today is the celebration of an abundant harvest season. After a casually paced breakfast, we set out for the Wells Petroglyph Preserve, home to more than 40,000 ancient petroglyphs. Here we get a private hiking tour by the property owner, Katherine Wells, to see up-close the fantastic images of a ritualistic past. We then head to the small artist town of Dixon where we meet scholar Severin Fowles, who will share the archaeological history of Picuris Pueblo and its ongoing rituals of today. We end up at Picuris Pueblo in the early afternoon to witness their Feast Day ceremonies that include dances and a traditional pole climb. Celebrate the close of our program with a special dinner in Chimayo. Overnight, Chimayo. B L D

DAY 5

Saturday, August 11

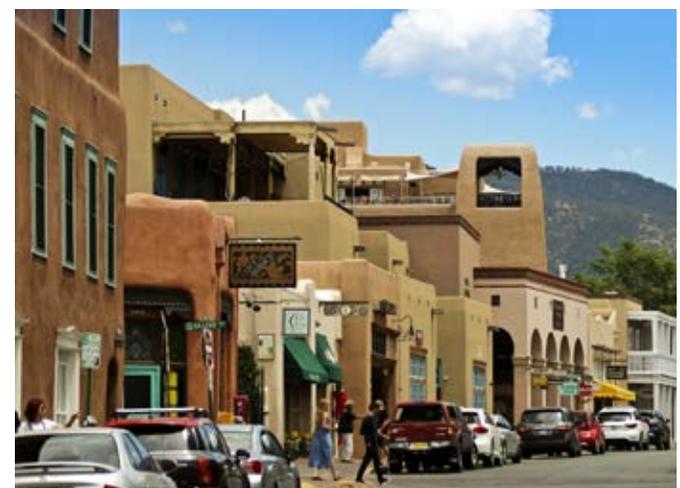

In the morning we return to Santa Fe for departures. Crow Canyon will provide one group shuttle to the Albuquerque airport for outgoing flights. Plan your flight for any time after 12:00 noon. Note: We suggest you stay an extra night or two to enjoy the Santa Fe Opera, in session this time of year. B

Casa Escondida

Rock art at Wells Petroglyph Preserve

Explore Santa Fe

B = breakfast, L = lunch, D = dinner
Itinerary subject to change

Crow Canyon Archaeological Center

crowcanyon.org

800.422.8975, ext. 457

travel@crowcanyon.org