Field work at the Haynie site

Work alongside our archaeologists in the field and in the lab. In 2020 we continue our Northern Chaco Outliers Project research, with excavation at the Haynie site, an ancestral Pueblo village with two Pueblo II period (A.D. 950-1150) great houses.

Highlights

- Learn excavation methods—then excavate alongside our archaeologists.
- Help wash, identify, and analyze ancient artifacts in the lab.
- Explore the cliff dwellings of nearby Mesa Verde National Park on a daylong guided tour (for participants new to Crow Canyon). Alumni spend more time in the field.
